Triathlon SBR (Swim, Bike, Run) is a unique, large format, high gloss publication and Africa's biggest triathlon mag. It includes training advice from across the globe, personal travel & race reviews, gear tests, big name interviews and a lot more. It is an extended version of IRONMAN race magazine and available on newsstands nationally.

This glamorous, hi tech sport and it's world championship flagship event in Hawaii, and the new "Ryder Cup" of triathlon as the Collin's Cup, carries an almost mystical image. This is showcased in the ultimate triathlon mag and VIP event participant keepsake, Triathlon SBR and the official IRONMAN SA race magazines.

Triathlon SBR is a high gloss large-format magazine sold on newsstands for R79.90. It is a bi-annual mag (May & October) coinciding with the sale of copies of an IRONMAN race branded version allowing IRONMAN athletes to soak up full race experience.

IRONMAN events are by far the biggest triathlon events locally and globally. Typically entrants train for 4-6 months to prepare for their biggest day out in the year. IRONMAN magazine includes event specific information to each entrant of the 3 local Ironman events in PE, Durban and East London which effectively covers SA's tri season.

The Full distance Championship event sees super fit athletes competing for an average of over 13 hours non-stop, some up to 17 hours to make the dramatic midnight cut off. As such a lot of swimming, cycling and running preparation is required, let alone the spend on gear for each discipline plus travel costs.

Triathlon SBR & IRONMAN race mags combine the best local & international content through our 30 years of credible international editorial experience to deliver a uniquely insightful, pertinent, high quality read. This unique content and high quality coffee table packaging has made the magazine the biggest circulation triathlon mag in South Africa over the past 9 years.
